

“Alternative Medicine A New Regulatory Model” By Michael Weir

Professor of Law <> Faculty of Law <> Bond Univeristy

Many ANTA Members have attended ANTA seminars and listened intently to the thought provoking and complelling presentations Michael has given on a wide range of issues that confront the profession.

Michael has written a book that analyses the current regulatory structure and how complementary and alternative medicine (CAM) is regulated by common law, specific statutory provisions, the TGA and health rights legislation. The book covers attempts by orthodox medicine to destroy or dominate CAM. Chapters in the book also cover the current structure of health care, precursors to control, limits on protection, TGA and regulation of CAM.

As with Michael’s ANTA seminar presentations this is a thought provoking and compelling book that provides recommendations on the way forward. “Alternative Medicine A New Regulatory Model” is recommended reading for all complementary and alternative medicine professionals.
